Sellout Of Senior Ball Bids Expected Today; 35 Remain On Sale

Lakeside Olympic Club Scene Of Annual Graduation Dance

A complete sellout of Senior Ball bids is expected by today as only 35 of the 357 which went on sale last week for the Saturday night annual graduation dance remained unsold yesterday afternoon, Chairman Steve Hosa reported.

Professor From Chinese College Talks Here Today

Claude Kellogg, professor of agriculture and biology at the University in Fu-Kien, China, will deliver two lectures here this morning at 10 and 11 o'clock in Room 112 of the Science building.

The lectures are sponsored by Tau Delta Phi fraternity and the Entomology club, and will be given during the regular nature study classes at those times. The sponsors announce that seats are limited and for those interested in the lectures to come early in order to fill the remaining seats promptly.

Kellogg's topics will deal with "Agriculture and Country Life in China", and "Philosophy of Education and Student Life in China". It is expected that Kellogg will have something to say on the effect of the Chino-Japanese war on Chinese culture. According to Dr. Carl Duncan, science instructor who is aiding the sponsors with arrangements, Kellogg's information comes first hand as the result of many years spent in the Orient.

A general educator, Kellogg has made an extensive study of the Chinese language, together with the social customs and organization of their scheme of life. For the past school year he has been at the University of California Agricultural School in Davis, studying conditions. He will be here all day, noting conditions on the local campus.

NO MORE RELEASED

Urging all graduating seniors wishing to attend the dance to get their bids promptly today, Hosa said that no more besides the present number available would be released. The Ball tickets are on sale in the Controller's office.

Priced at $2.50, no bids will be sold to juniors and lower classmen unless some remain unsold by Thursday, according to Hosa.

HELD AT LAKESIDE

Featuring the music of Kenny Baker and his orchestra, the traditional Senior Ball will be held at the Olympic Club at Lakeside, overlooking Lake Merced.

Although dress for the Ball is formal, committeemen said that dark suits would suffice. Dancing will be from nine until 1 o'clock.

Journalism Frat Will Sponsor Annual Banquet

The annual Spartan Daily banquet, under the sponsorship of Nu Iota Chi, honorary journalism fraternity, will be held Friday at 6:30, place to be announced later, committee members for the affair announced yesterday.

All staff members and students in the present news writing classes who are not actively associated with the paper are invited. There will be a charge of fifty cents, according to the committee.

All those planning to attend are asked to sign up with Dolores Freitas in the Publications office before Thursday noon.

FROSH-SOPH MIXER SET FOR FRIDAY

"Summertime" has been selected as the theme for the annual Freshman-Sophomore Mixer scheduled for the Men's gym Friday night from 7:30 to 10 o'clock, according to members of the committee.

General chairman for the affair is Mert Crockett, who is being aided by Roy Diedrickson, president of the freshman class.

According to Crockett, this will be the last time these two classes will be together until the Junior-Senior clash. "Forget about finals for a few hours," declares Crockett, "and have a good time before going home for the summer."

Various orchestras are being considered for the mixer. Dancing and community singing will highlight the night of fun and frolic, states Chairman Crockett.

Doris Rowe will handle refreshments, and Lois Ellithorpe is in charge of decorations for the affair. Admission is 10 cents.

PORTAL RANCH SCENE OF SENIOR SPRAWL

Seniors will journey to Dee Portal's ranch on the Mt. Hamilton road next Monday and join in an afternoon and evening of swimming, hiking, and dancing, all part of the annual Senior Sprawl.

Leaving from in front of the Student Union at 2:30 p.m., graduates will spend the afternoon at Dee Portal's ranch and go to Mt. Hamilton in the evening.

Tickets for the activity went on sale Friday at 35 cents, and cover the cost of the barbecue upper.

Working on the committee for the affair under Co-Chairmen John Whitfield and Ham Hodgson are Charlotte Jennings, Dorothy Bakeman, Peggy McDaniels, Ruby Selmers, Virginia Moore, Mary Lou Dougan, Clarisse Poulain, Esther Pennycott, Walter Nasif, Bob Lee, and Ralph Kelley.

Harper, Frykman Named Highest Ranking Seniors

Edwin H. Harper and George A. Frykman of the graduating class were named yesterday as the two highest ranking seniors in scholarship, topping the largest class in history—more than 450 seniors.

Harper, number one honor student, is a physical science major. He is graduating with great distinction for scholarship and with honors in his major department.

Second highest senior, Frykman, is also graduating with great distinction for scholarship. A history major, he wins honors in that field.

The announcement was made by Registrar Joe West.

Spring Concert Ends Present Season; All-Student Theme

Charles Pyle Conducts Own Composition, 'Symphonia'

For the thirtieth time in his 10 years at San Jose State college, Adolph W. Otterstein, head of the Music department and conductor of the 115-piece Symphony orchestra, will step upon the Morris Dailey auditorium podium and conduct the Symphony in its last concert of the year at 8:15.

For the first time in his conductorship of the nationally-known Symphony, Mr. Otterstein will relinquish his baton to a student conductor, Charles Pyle, who will lead the group in his own composition for full symphony orchestra, "Symphonia". The first movement of the two-movement original composition will be played.

Contributing to the all-student theme of tonight's concert will be Miss Jean Crouch, 'cello soloist, who will play the first movement of the Lalo "Cello Concerto in D". Tonight's spring concert will be the first time that a student conductor and student soloist have appeared with the Symphony on one program.

The Otterstein-conducted Symphony orchestra, praised by Dr. Joseph Maddy of the University of Michigan as "the best college orchestra he has heard", will play a varied program, appealing to a wide range of musical tastes.

Opening with Bach's "Come Sweet Death" and closing with Tchaikovsky's famous "1812 Overture", the program has a modern touch in student-conductor-composer Pyle's "Symphonia". Other numbers on the program are Brahms' "Symphony Number 1" and the Lalo "Cello Concerto in D" featuring Soloist Jean Crouch.

Bond Election Rally Recruits Revelries Cast

Taking on the proportion of a variety show to which students are urged to invite parents and householders, the "Bond Election" rally scheduled for Friday evening in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 8 o'clock will recruit six of its eight acts from the 1940 Spartan Revelries cast.

One of the newly-added features of the program will be community singing led by the newly-elected yell leaders. Also scheduled is a short talk by Al Alton, new student body president.

Just added to the list of entertainers for the Friday night frolic are the Ero Trio and Jack Harcourt, both of the 1940 Revelries.

Directing the PTA-sponsored program acting as an opening gun in their new high school bond election campaign will be Bill Van Vleck, Revelries director, who is being aided in the planning for the show by Verne Williams.

Applications For Job Contest Being Accepted

Seniors wishing to submit applications for the Walter Mack Job Awards Contest are requested to turn in letters of application to Miss Dolores Freitas, Publications office secretary, today or tomorrow, Miss Freitas announced yesterday.

A choice of two candidates, one man and one woman, to enter a nation-wide competition for positions with a national beverage manufacturing company, will be made from graduating seniors who apply. Choice of San Jose State college's two candidates will be made by a faculty committee consisting of Dr. William H. Poytress, Weaver Meadows, Dwight Bentel, Dr. H. A. Sotzin, and Dr. P. Victor Peterson. A salary of $1300 for one year's employment will be paid candidates who qualify for positions offered by the beverage company.

As the company will attempt to place those whom they accept in positions best suitable to their personal qualifications, seniors who apply are requested to name the type of positions wished. All graduating seniors who are 21 years of age or over are eligible to compete.

Swenson Elected NIX President

Pony Swenson, recently appointed to head the Daily staff for the fall quarter, was elected to succeed Bill Rodrick as president of Nu Iota Chi, honorary journalism fraternity, at the last regular meeting of the year for the group yesterday.

John Healey, present sports editor, will follow Bart Maynard as vice-president. Harry Graham and Frank Bonanno, the latter elected by a white ballot, will fill the offices of secretary and treasurer for the organization.

All-College Music Program Thursday

The Music department's all-student formal program will be played Thursday night at 8:15 in the Little Theater. The occasion is the first public presentation of musical scores which won the all-college original student-written music composition contest, held during the winter quarter.

No faculty member has any part whatever in the presentation of the program, points out George W. Matthews, who took charge of the contest. It is written and will be handled, conducted, played and arranged entirely by students.

The program will represent all divisions of the Music department, including vocal solos, A Cappella numbers, piano solos, a woodwind ensemble and two other instrumental ensembles, and organ solos.

Students whose winning works will be played or sung are Dick Anderson, Irwin Quast, Corinne Richey, Crawford Gates, Lucille Machado, Jane Leeder, Charles Pyle, Orrin Blattner, Carlton Lindgren, Vernon Kendall and Frances Barton.

A sweepstakes winner will be chosen from among the compositions played Thursday night, and its composer will receive an award of five dollars, in addition to whatever other prize his work has won.

With but a few more days to go before this quarter is ended and with the glistening sands at Santa Cruz luring our thoughts, probably few of us are giving much thought to San Jose State's Summer Session.

It's bad enough just to think of the end 'o quarter exams looming ahead. A glance through the Summer Session catalog, however, and the idea of dipping into a six weeks' program of study doesn't seem so bad.

Along with courses in fourteen different fields, there will be a program of recreational activities which will go far in offsetting the tantalizing summer breezes coming in through the classroom windows.

From comments by those who have attended previous Summer Sessions, these recreational activities coupled with lessened formality in the lecture hall make these Sessions "never-to-be-forgotten".

As someone has said, "If you want to get one of those nasty courses out of the way as painlessly as possible, take it during Summer Session."

So if you have some of those "inc's" to make up, want to whittle down some of next year's work, or don't know what to do for six weeks, give a thought to the Summer Session. You're guaranteed a good time.

—Waters.

Comprehensive Final Exams?

Examinations are an important subject with students under our present system of education and so it is with no little interest that we wait for the decision of the authorities on the proposed change in the exam schedule for next year.

There are arguments—good ones—on both sides of the question. It is said that the new system will give students and faculty alike the opportunity to devote their entire attention to examinations without the distraction of attending classes.

Then it may be said that comprehensive examinations, which will probably result from the increased time allowed, will require a more thorough review of the quarter's work and therefore be beneficial to the student even if distasteful.

It may also be argued, however, that this necessary review of early quarter material will cause too hasty study of the last part of the work and consequent slighting. There is no doubt, too, on the part of those who have experienced examination weeks, that the worry and strain on the student are much greater.

We may be sure, however, that whatever action is taken by the administration is done with the best interests of the students in mind.

—Perry.

Generally Speaking
By BILL RODRICK

At this particular point, it perhaps seems pretty obvious, but we might at least go on record as predicting that, despite the strong agitation for the move this quarter, there will be no color change.

In the two recent elections, students "test" voted first to change the colors and then in favor of a definite combination—although the latter vote was, on the whole, unsatisfactory.

Saturday, as expected, the alumni strongly opposed any change in the gold and white. However, leaders of the Alumni Association had previously expressed themselves in favor of a change, and we might point out, the balance of those attending the Homecoming were the so-called "gold" and "silver" grads. Many observers feel that more recent graduates would have voted the other way.

Regardless of their feelings on the matter, however, leaders of the Alumni Association have said that, after all, it is entirely up to the students attending the college now. If the present undergraduates want a color change, that should be all that's necessary to put it through, they said . . .

However, the administration has said that the alumni should have a strong voice in the matter along with themselves. Since the administration is as strongly opposed to a change as any "golden grad", it doesn't take very careful deduction to figure out the answer.

The reason why the opinion of a student body expressed by ballot may be so easily overruled, however, lies simply in the apathy of undergraduates toward elections and such questions of vital campus interest. Under present conditions, we question why so-called student opinion should be too seriously considered here.

Thrust and Parry:

Regarding the color change which doesn't seem to be provoking the pros and cons originally hoped for, I would like to say that it is my opinion that at present the students are thinking about the change very little or not at all. However, if the colors are changed, there is little doubt that much controversy will arise. This after the band uniforms have been purchased and all the various teams garbed in the new hues.

Let us then consider the present purpose of school colors. Obviously they are primarily for the teams to use and secondarily to be decorative. Primarily, therefore, they should be contrasting, pleasing, and when one color is imposed upon the other, easily distinguished.

It is, therefore, my suggestion that we abandon yellow entirely and turn to the other two primary colors, blue-green and magenta.

EXPOSE! Honor Graduate Tells Horrors Of Upperclass Life

By HARRY GRAHAM

"They're after me!" He cowered in a dark corner of the damp cell. "Now now, old man—buck up." I could hardly believe that this miserable lunatic was Reginald Smythe, once seriously considered for the honor of summa cum laude, Class of '40.

"It's the seniors!" His eyes glittered. "You know something—when I entered college as just plain Reg Smith, I never once suspected that before I got through I would be assessed to the breaking point and harassed from pillar to post this way." I sensed an expose.

"Financially, it wasn't so bad at first; even though it looked as

That was when the family fortune buckled." He raised to one knee and rubbed a trembling hand through tangled hair.

"Even then, that wasn't bad at all—compared to the torture they thrust upon me in the next breath. Senior Sprawl, trips to Honolulu for the week-end, rehearsals for Baccalaureate, rehearsals for graduation, rehearsals on looking-for-a-job—gad! Finally I wasn't attending classes except on DeVoss's day off. You can imagine how I felt!" I nodded sympathetically.

"But then they came and brought me here, where everything is so peaceful and quiet." He watched a rat scamper across the bed. "They can't get at us here; we're all alone!"

I was puzzled. "We?" "Yes!" He pointed to the rat. "Uncle Jimmy and I!"

Move Underway To Enter Santa Cruz Open Swim June 16

A move to capture another Santa Cruz Open swim trophy is underway among the men swimmers of the college, who are making plans to enter a team in the annual event which this year falls on June 16, the first Sunday after school is out.

LOCKS HEADS MOVE

According to Swimming Coach Charlie Walker, an official concerted effort to put in a team as last year is not being made by the P.E. department due to the late date of the swim. However, he states, Bob Locks, swimming and water polo star of the past three years, is heading a group which hopes to form a Spartan team large enough to win the Santa Cruz team trophy which would make it the third consecutive year.

So far only six men have signified their intentions of participating in the swim, but Locks and Walker expect more to sign up.

SIGN UP NOW

Anyone interested in swimming under San Jose State college colors, even though the meet is being held after the finish of the school year, is asked to report either to Locks or Walker by the end of this week so that entry blanks may be filled. Walker states that it will take at least 20 finishers to win the team trophy.

Last year the Spartans finished 23 men to capture first team honors in the mile and three-quarter grind which took place in frigid bay waters. This year the swim will be held later in the season to insure warmer weather. Also, the distance is being cut down to three-quarters of a mile.

With the swim being held under these more favorable conditions, those in charge of the swim believe there will be more finishers.

GOLD MEDALS

This year's swim will take place at 1 p.m. with gold medals going to every swimmer who finishes.

Walker urges all those who plan to compete in the swim to start working out in the pool immediately, as condition is an important factor in the bay swim.

LOST: One SGO fraternity pin. Reward. —Don Gibson.

EASTERN CAGE FIVE TO MEET SPARTANS HERE JANUARY 3

WEST VIRGINIA INSTITUTION HAS IMPRESSIVE RECORD

Official confirmation for the proposed basketball contest between San Jose State and Marshall college of West Virginia set for January 3 in the Spartan pavilion was received yesterday by Graduate Manager Frank Carroll.

With the signing of the small eastern college, which holds victories over Long Island University and City College of New York, San Jose cage fans were assured of seeing two intersectional battles during the 1941 season. Utah State college of Logan, Utah, has been signed for the night of January 4.

Under the new California Collegiate Athletic Association ruling which provides for a double round of home and home games with conference quintets, followers of the hardwood sport will be given every break.

Approximately twenty home games have been already scheduled by Carroll who promises several additional games with the signing of practice contests.

University of California officials who have been contacted by Carroll have stated that they will play San Jose if a spot can be found on their schedule.

Coach Walt McPherson is planning a conference with Stanford university officials today with the

LONG CAREER ENDS FOR JOSEPH GWINN

Directs Army University
Overseas During World War

By WENDELL HAMMON

Fifty years ago, with the ending of this quarter, Dr. Joseph Marr Gwinn started his educational work as a teacher in a one-room school in Johnson County, Missouri, where he himself attended as a student.

"When Dr. Gwinn retires at the end of this quarter, the field of Education will lose one of its most outstanding figures," states Dr. Elmer Staffebach, head of the Education department.

Since Dr. Gwinn's first teaching position in Missouri he has done nearly everything in the field of Education from being superintendent of public schools to teaching illiterate people how to teach illiterate students in France.

"One of the most interesting experiences was as Director of the A.E.F. University at Beaune, France, where we trained men to become teachers in a period of two weeks—the shortest course for teachers that I've ever heard of," said Dr. Gwinn.

One of the classes that was taught at the A.E.F. University was a class to teach prospective teachers how to instruct illiterate people. "Out of the class, 50 per cent of the students were illiterate, I guess the army decided that experience counted," he said.

As president of the National Department of School Superintendents from 1927-28 Dr. Gwinn had the experience of presenting Charles Lindbergh to the public for his first time since his flight to Paris. The occasion was at the annual convention in Boston. Lindbergh's mother was given an honorary membership in the organization.

Besides the above mentioned positions in the field of Education Dr. Gwinn has been Superintendent of Schools in New Orleans, San Francisco and Joplin, Missouri; Professor of Education at Tulane; and is an Officer De Academie Republique Francais.
